1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. More particularly, there is no structure set forth in this claim, with the end result that the various four separate components, all of which are believed to be ingredients or additives of the pressure sensitive adhesive layer, can instead be components of the adhesive layer, backing layer, or an additional structural element not set forth, and as a result the claim is vague, indefinite, and confusing.

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 11-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as based on a disclosure which is not enabling. More particularly, applicant's specification teaches 1) (e.g., the Abstract) that the adhesive composition must not contain a halogen based flame retardant, 2) that there should be at least broad ranges of proportions of the various ingredients (see, e.g. page 9), and 3) that there should be some sort of basic tape or sheet structure recited, such as the presence of a suitable sheet or backing, each of these limitations which are believed to be critical or essential to the practice of the invention, but not included in the claim(s) is not enabled by the disclosure. See In re Mayhew, 527 F.2d 1229, 188 USPQ 356 (CCPA 1976).

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over applicant's admissions on page 2 of the specification concerning Jap. Unexamined Pat. Pub. 11-269438. The reference is disclosed in the specification as teaching the claimed three ingredient acrylate psa of claim 11 which is mixed with a suitable amount of a metal hydrate, the reference admission lacking only an admission that the above composition forms either a flame retardant acrylic psa tape or sheet, which the Examiner respectfully submits is well within the ordinary skill of the art.

7. Claims 12-25 are not rejected over adverse prior art. The Examiner does not believe that the specific layer adhesive structures of these claims, which require the presence of the flame retardant metal hydrate in only one layer, is obvious over JP '438 or any of the cited prior art set forth below, whether taken individually or in combination. This is believed so even though the open ended structure of the claims does not prohibit the presence of additional elements such as metal hydrate compounds in any other adhesive layer which may be present.

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Note also Ishiguro et al, which discloses (note, e.g. Paragraphs 0036, 0050, 0052, 0056) each of the various elements of claim 11 which are taken from not so lengthy "laundry lists" of ingredients, and Muta et al.
